

Ancient Egyptian Cat Mummy Mask

The Ancient Egyptians believed that the afterlife was just like this life. They wanted to take everything they loved with them, including their pets! They mummified cats and even little mice for the cats to eat. Cats were also mummified as offerings at the temple of the goddess Bastet.

Instructions:

1. Print this page on heavy paper.
2. Colour the cat face.
3. Cut out the mask and the eyes.
4. Cut up pipe cleaners and add whiskers (optional).
5. Turn the mask over and attach a popsicle stick with a piece of tape.
6. Hold the mask up in front of your face!
